Cosmetic Laser Services

The Aesthetic Center of Gynecology and Women's Health at Frankford Hospitals is a hospital-based laser enhancement center operated and staffed by Board Certified Physicians and trained Laser Technicians who offer cosmetic laser services to women and men.

At The Aesthetic Center, we understand the importance and sensitive nature of the procedures we offer to our valued clients. We invite you to take advantage of our free consultation, which is completely confidential. This 30-minute session is designed to inform you on what each treatment involves, what results you can expect, and what it will cost. It also provides you with an opportunity to discuss what your needs are and enables you to make an informed decision on whether the treatment is appropriate for you. Our specially trained staff will answer all of your questions and during each procedure you will be given the utmost care and attention. Women and men of all skin types can safely and effectively benefit from laser therapy.

Laser Hair Removal

At the Aesthetic Center, we use the most advanced lasers and provide FDA approved laser treatments for unwanted hair. The treatments are a non-invasive approach toward permanent reduction and long-term hair removal from all parts of the body. We successfully utilize our lasers to safely eliminate hundreds of unwanted hair follicles in just seconds.

Unlike electrolysis, which requires a needle to be inserted into each follicle, our Cynosure laser system can be used to quickly treat large areas of the body. Sensitivity varies from person to person but is generally considered to cause less discomfort than other treatment methods. During a free consultation, we will determine if a topical or oral anesthetic is indicated. There is no down time and you will be able to resume regular activities immediately.

During the procedure, the laser light will be transmitted through cooled air to soothe the surface of the skin. At the same time, the laser heats the hair follicle beneath the skin. Laser treatments impair the growth capacity of the hair follicles when they are in the active growth stage. Not all follicles are active at the same time and several treatments may be necessary to obtain the desired result. The number of treatments vary, though most patients experience a marked reduction in hair growth in four to six treatments.

Pseudo-folliculitis (PF)

Commonly known as "shaving bumps", pseudo-folliculitis (PF) is an inflammatory condition predominantly found among individuals with thick curly hair. As the hair grows out of the skin, it curls and re-enters the skin. The skin reacts to it as a foreign object and becomes inflamed and irritated, creating bumps and discoloration. These bumps can become quite large and cause discomfort.

Our laser therapy is designed to target and destroy the hair follicle causing this condition. Benefits of this treatment are delayed re-growth of the hair, lightening of the hair, decreased density of the hair, and long-term or permanent reduction in the number of hairs growing in the treatment areas. Multiple treatments are required to achieve desired results. Short-term redness and some edema, or localized swelling, may be expected.

Laser Leg Vein Therapy

Still hiding your unsightly leg veins? We have a better solution for you! The revolutionary laser treatment with the Cynosure system can quickly and safely eliminate these vessels, leaving your skin looking smooth and your legs beautiful again. The redness and bruising associated with traditional treatments or other lasers are minimized or completely eliminated. And best of all, the Cynosure laser provides the most risk-free treatment for dark or tanned skin than any other existing modalities.

Skin Rejuvenation

Laser facial treatments can reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles as well as improve mild acne scars, reduce large pores, correct dark circles around the eyes, and increase skin tone. Laser therapy can also successfully treat unsightly facial veins.
